COLUMBIA ROUTED BY CORNELL

ITHACA FOOTBALL TEAM WINS BY THE SCORE OF 24 TO O.

The First Half Stubbornly Contested, but in the Second the Visitors Make Touchdowns Rapidly-Brewster Runs 95 Yards Through Entire Light Blue Line.

The defence of the Columbia football team collapsed before the determined and swift-moving onslaught of the big Cornell men yesterday and the eleven young fellows who sport the blue and white forced to accept a humiliating defeat from the Ithaca eleven. Lights were burning and only the dim outlines of the twentytwo participants in the battle could be seen through the dusk when the game ended. The final score was 24 to 0, and a game which at the end of the first half promised to be at least close ended in almost a rout. Columbia fought back stubbornly in the first half, giving as good as they received, but in the second half the cripples began to weaken and Cornell, growing stronger every minute, battered the Columbia men down, toppled them over and hurled them back, making three out of the four touchdowns in the second half. Cornell's score was only five less than she made against Columbia two years ago, but in yesterday's game Columbia put up a much better fight.

The Columbia partisans were on the anxious seat as the teams first came on he field to see whether their mainstay Weekes would play. They saw the star alf back in uniform, but he was limping painfully. He hobbled across to a bench. and when his team formed for signal practice he was not in line. The main handicap that Columbia suffered through Weekes's absence was in defence. Weekes's ability to head off men with the ball was sorely missed yesterday. Not only did the Cornell backs find great gaps in the Columbia line to jump through, but the lack of the right man to stop them after they cleared he scrimmage and were racing over the halk marks was fatal to Columbia's hopes. First Berrien played back on the defence for Columbia. Later Willard dropped back, Berrien going up to brace the line. Had this change not been made Columbia would have fared better, as Willard, who was lame and bruised, was almost useless in heading off the brawny Cornell backs.

The result was not entirely unexpected. The Sun contained a prediction yesterday of 21 to 0 in favor of Cornell and also pointed out the other day that if Cornell won it might be by a big score. One noticeable shortcoming in Columbia's play was that the man' with the ball did not receive the proper amount of assistance. The close ormation of backs is a good play with the backs working together, but it did not amount to much yesterday because the call carrier did not have enough help. Smith who really did valiant work for Columbia had to fight his way alone more than nce. The opening would be made for him and he would find it quickly, but there was no one near to lend him a helping hand. such as is so essential to a good attack. There was more speed and team work in Cornell's attack. The Ithacans had pretty interference and they fooled the light blue badly with the delayed pass. When Columbia began to stop this play the game was nearly over.

The Columbia tackles were a mark for Cornell's attack. Gain after gain was made through Kindgen. Bruce, who has also been on the injured list, did well considering his lameness and was much steadier than Kindgen. At advancing the ball, however, from the tackle back formation he was not effective and showed a costly tendency to fumble. The combination of Willard at quarter and Morley at haif back did not prove a good one for Columbia, though the best she could do under the circumstances. Morley at quarter probably would have steadied the whole team. While the form displayed by Corneil was such as to prove that she would have won the game under any circumstances, still the game under any circumstances. When the game under any circumstances is the game to the game to

In the back field Cornell was also superior.
The Cornell backs were rugged, strong fellows who never stopped while there was an extra inch in sight. Neither team handled the ball in first-class form. The fumbling and muffing were about equally divided, but the Cornell men were spryer in re rieving these blunders than the New Yorkers. When a Cornel! man dropped the leather one of his side was quick to nip it and the Ithacans were just as quick to seize the precious pigskin when Columbia fumbled.

The game opened with Columbia having

The game opened with Columbia having the kick-off and the north goal. The ball was lifted clear to the back line where Coffin gathered it in his arms and with head down charged up the field. He made twenty yards and went down in a pile of blue legs. The first delay came right here before the game had been in progress half a minute. When play was resumed Coffin rammed into the left wing for only a yard which short gala encouraged the Columbia rooters immensely. "We're holding them all right," they shouted but they did not feel so buoyant the next time as Schoelkopf smashed into Columbia's left tackle and was hauled along for eight clean yards. The same point was assailed the once more but held firmly and a mass play on centre falled to gain. Here Columbia's defence disintegrated and Coffin galloped through the hole for a ten-yard advance. The Cornell plays were under way so quickly that Columbia was puzzled, Coffin following up his gain with three yards on a revolving play on tackle. Purcell was stopped without profit to his side but a Columbia man was offside and Columbia was penalized five yards. This unexpected reverse had the effect of stiffening up Columbia's 15-yard line. Berrien on Columbia now her first exportunity to show what she could do at rushing, and Smith in two tries at the opposing tackle made five yards, giving Columbia a first down. Berrien went into the centre for a yard and then game another delay. Moriey punted to Brewster in mid-field, and Boyesen made a beautiful tackle which lifted the Cornellian backward off his feet. The umpire decided that Brewster had been interfered with on the catch and penalized Columbia fifteen yards and let Cornell have a kick from placement, The kick was a fizzl. Van Hoevenberg catching the ball on Columbia's 55-yard line. Brewster had been interfered with on the catch and penalized Columbia for yards. Morley kicked and the ball way up into the clouds. Taussig interfered with Berrien making the catch and Cornell was penalized fifteen yards. Morley took a free k took the ball and managed to hurdle a vard. Twice more the gains were so short that Cornell captured the ball on downs. Cornell tried a fake kick, Brewster passing the ball to Coffin, but Columbia broke through in fine style and a loss of ten yards for Cornell ensued through the strategy that went wong.

that went wrong.

Brewster kicked to Willard on Cornell's 40-yard line. Columbia tried a close formation which worked so well that Berrien mation which worked so well that Berrien ripped the centre in twain for ten yards. Bruce advanced the ball five yards more and Smith joited Cornell's right wing so hard it fell apart and Smith was eight yards nearer the goal. Berrien hit the centre for two and Smith hurdled three. Columbia had the ball on Cornell's 10-yard line and the Cornell players were trembling in their shoes. A fumble, however, upset Columbia's calculations and the ball went to Cornell's Brewster followed with a superb

Harvard, 27; Dartmouth, 12. CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 16.—Harvard defeated Dartmouth on Soldier's Field this afternoon in the cleanest and best game of football that has been played in Cambridge this fail. The score was 27 to 12. Dartmouth scored twice on blocked kicks, and played better than any team that Harvard has been up against, as she had both a good offence and good defence, making her first down five times, the best record against the Crimson thus far. There were a number of specta-cular plays in the game. Barnard, the big Harvard guard, got the ball on a fumble once in the middle of the field and without a minute for interference, carried it over the line. Graydon once got through the line for forty yards and Putnam got a few good gains on the end. The surprise of the game came near the end. Harvard got down to the 15-yard line and after a failure to gain, the 15-yard line and after a failure to gain, Daly dropped back for a drop kick. He has been out of the game so long that no one expected anything from him, but he sunt the ball over.

Harvard played a rushing game and confined herself largely to line bucking. The end runs, which have figured prominently this season, were almost wholly deserted. The tandem play with a tackle back was again the favorite, but Harvard played a great deal of straight football. Once they tried a left wing shift, but it failed. There was considerable off-side play on both sides and both were penalized frequently. The line-up:

CAMERIDGE, Nov. 16.—The Yale '05 foot-ball eleven, which came here confident of defeating Harvard's '05 team, and which were heralded as the best freshman team that Yale had turned out for some years, met with an overwhelming defeat by a score of freshman victory. Yaie did better than any Yale freshman eleven has done for eight years, in that she scored. The game was interesting from start to finish. There was an unusual amount of scrapping, so that there was always a fight on somewhere. No one was hurt, although the umpire was No one was hur, achough the display as threatened by a Yale freshman and a free fight twice was narrowly averted. The umpire satisfied himself by imposing penalties for holding, inteference and offside playing, and let the fighting go on. In the first half Harvard, by winning the toss, got a strong wind, which she made good use of, Chase doing excellent punting; but as the playing was mostly in Yale's territory Harvard rushed the ball most of the time. Both teams tried centre plays, Harvard scored two touchdowns on a tackle-back formation and Kidder made one place kick after a fair catch. Yale heid Harvard magnificently for downs inside her 5-yard line, and then by fast playing scored a touchdown while Harvard was napping. In the second half both elevens played an end game. Harvard had a faster, heavier and stronger eleven, wa better equipped with plays and as better trained in team play, she excelled in all departments. WINS DISTRICT SPECIAL AFTER SCARING SIX HORSES OUT. The Only First Choice to Finish First on The Puritan, Who Is Beaten by Unmasked - Falls in Steeplechase.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—The first week of the Washington Jockey Club's meeting ended this afternoon before the largest crowd of the week in spite of the fact that the weather was cold and threatening. Although the card called for only five races, six were decard called for only five races, six were decided, as the District Special, the main event of the day, was a heat race. The sport was excellent. A splendid card had been arranged by Secretary Crickmore, but favorities ran disappointingly. Knight of Rhodes, a prohibitive favorite, was the only first choice to min. Knight of Rhodes's victory was in to win Knight of Rhodes's victory was in the District Special, which he won in straight heats. Six good horses were carded to run, but they all feared Knight of Rhodes so that Curtsey and Tankard were the only ones left to oppose Knight of Rhodes. The latter opened a 1 to 4 favorite, but that price did not remain very long and the closing betting found him at 1 to 20. Curtsey was well played for the place. Knight of Rhodes led all the way and won by six lengths, with Tankard so far back that he was distanced. It was Cochran's orders, it was said, to distance both horses, misjudged the distance and Curtsey got inside the line. Curtsey cooled out better than Knight of Rhodes, so that she was well played at 7 to 1 with Knight of Rhodes at 1 to 10 for the second heat. Knight of Rhodes also led all the way in this heat, but Curtsey clung to him to the last furlong, where she tired, leaving Knight of Rhodes to draw away and win by two lengths.

The next best event was the closing race, a handicap for three-year-olds and upward. handicap for three-year-olds and upward, at seven furlongs. Of the ten that ran, The Puritan was most in favor and was the choice at all times at 2 to 1, but Roxane was backed from 4 to 13 to 8, while Umbard of the Control of the C at seven furlongs. Of the ten that ran, The Puritan was most in favor and was the choice

WILLIAMS, 21; AMHERST, 5. Victory Gives Williams Championship of Triangular League.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Nov. 16.-Williams defeated Amherst here to-day by a score of 21 to 5. The victory gives Williams the championship of the Triangular League as she has already beaten Wesleyan. Williams played a hard, fast game and won by superior football. At times Amherst played well and made consistent gains, but her defensive work was not as good Pierce kicked off for Amherst and Peabody ran back fifteen yards. Then Amherst held for downs, but not being able to gain, Pierce punted. Williams worked the ball back to the 40-yard line, where it changed hands twice on fum-bles. Finally Watson carried the bail to Amherst's 10-yard line and on the next play carried it over for a touch down. O'Neill kicked an easy goal. After the next kick-off Williams tore up Amherst's line until the bail was on the 30-yard line. There Jayne got in a pretty quarter back kick and Graves feil on the ball for the second touchdown. Amherst here took a brace and rushed the ball steadily down the field and Williams's goal was in danger as time was called. Hatch kicked off for the second half. O'Neill was hurt and gave way to Vose, while Durfoe took Peabody's place. Pierce tried to punt, but the ball was passed so badly he had to fall on it and it was William's ball on Amherst's 30-yard line. Graves bucked the line beautifully, and with Watson's aid landed the ball on the 3-yard line, when Lawrence made the third touchdown. Amherst then made her only touchdown, by steady line bucking to the 2-yard line, where Daniels was jammed over. On the next kick-off Jayne made a beautiful run through a broken field for a touchdown. Time was called with Williams in possession of the ball on her own 40-yard line. The line-up: bail was on the 30-yard line. There Jayne
